

PennState
College of the Liberal Arts

THE LABOR SCHOOL

School of Labor and Employment Relations

What Union Leaders Need to Know about Artificial Intelligence

Friday, May 15, 2026

Learn More

Artificial Intelligence (AI) is rapidly transforming workplaces across the United States. Join union leaders and activists from across Pennsylvania to learn:

- How AI technologies are being used in workplaces
- The key risks AI poses for union members
- Which members are most vulnerable
- Bargaining strategies to control employer use of AI
- Approaches unions can use to ensure AI supports—not replaces—workers
- State and Federal policies that can be passed to protect worker rights, privacy, and dignity

Registration

Cost: $100 per participant (includes program, lunch, and breaks)

Registration Deadline: Friday, May 8

To register, scan the QR code or visit:

bit.ly/ai-conference2026

Keller Building, Penn State, University Park

Friday, May 15, 2026

9:30 a.m. – 4:00 p.m. EST

This conference is jointly sponsored by the PA AFL-CIO and The LABOR School at Penn State.

This publication is available in alternative media on request. Penn State is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to providing employment opportunities to all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status. Penn State encourages qualified persons with disabilities to participate in its programs and activities. If you anticipate needing any type of accommodation or have questions about the physical access provided, please contact Leisa Kilby at 814-865-5425 or lmk5723@psu.edu, in advance of your participation or visit. Our events and programs are open to all students regardless of sex, gender, sexual orientation, race, or any other protected class. The College of the Liberal Arts is committed to building a community of belonging for all. UBR CLA 26-163